Explanation

Specifically, except as set forth below, the Marks shall always be used to indicate that 100% of the tea derives from a single tea garden in Darjeeling, India, as such gardens are listed in Schedule IV.

The Marks may be used in relation to a blend of DARJEELING tea drawn from more than one tea garden in Darjeeling, India, as listed in Schedule IV, only if each tea constituting the blend derives from a single tea garden in Darjeeling, India, as such gardens are listed in Schedule IV. In such case, the packaging for the tea must clearly indicate that the tea is a blend of DARJEELING tea with prominent use of the term "blend" or the term "blended."

The Marks may not be used in relation to a mixture of DARJEELING tea with teas of origin other than Darjeeling, India, even if the terms 'blend' or "blended" are used. If DARJEELING tea is one of the components of a tea mixture that includes some portion of tea that does not conform to the characteristics defined above, the tea mixture must not be named or referred to as "DARJEELING Tea" and the word "Darjeeling" may only be used and must be used on the packaging to accurately set forth the proportion of DARJEELING tea in the tea mixture (e.g., in a list of ingredients). In such cases, the term "Darjeeling" must appear in a font, design and size that does not misrepresent to the consumer the content and origin of the mixture.
